

Major Donors to the Share the Vision Campaign

Thank you to the 5,700 alumni and friends who made gifts to the Share the Vision Campaign. Although space considerations prevent us from listing every donor, we wanted to recognize those alumni, friends, foundations, and corporations who made gifts and pledges at the Tower Club level or more over the course of the campaign. These names will appear on a permanent memorial to the Share the Vision Campaign to be located in the Liberal Arts Building. If you would like your name to be listed differently, please notify us by Nov. 15 by contacting Minnie Hales at 910.277.5664 or minnie@sapc.edu.

The biggest beneficiaries of the Share the Vision Campaign have been the nearly 1,000 students who graduated during that time. Here a group makes the trek across the lake via the causewalk to attend classes.

The Art Department has continued its growth over the past eight years, with students able to complete projects in a variety of media. To better serve the department, discussion continues about adding a new art studio building to allow the artists to have a better designed workspace.

The theatre department has experienced a rebirth in recent years, with productions coming twice a year. The spring production was a fairy tale-themed extravaganza, with students from local schools encouraged to attend.

The St. Andrews Presbyterian College Choir has seen growth thanks to the support of a number of donors. The program has benefited from the foundation established by the music program at Flora Macdonald College.

Thank you for your support of St. Andrews throughout the Share the Vision Campaign.

In addition to adding the Knight Statue generously donated by Irwin Belk, St. Andrews has added several athletic teams over the past eight years. While wrestling will begin NCAA Division II competition in November, swimming will be the newest competitive sport in the 2007-2008 academic year.
