

Military Students

St. Andrews is a member of the Servicemembers Opportunity College Consortium (SOC). As a member of SOC, St. Andrews is committed to ensuring educational opportunities for service members and for providing for the transfer of relevant course credits from military training utilizing the American Council on Education's credit recommendations.

St. Andrews also participates in the Army Recruiting Command's Concurrent Admissions Program. This allows eligible newly-enlisted soldiers to be granted admission or provisional admission and to defer their enrollment until they have completed their initial enlistment. For those in the Army Reserve, enrollment is deferred until completion of their initial active duty.